

ICOVP-2013 – First Announcement and Call for Mini-Symposia

Dear Colleague,

We are pleased to announce the 11th International Conference on Vibration Problems (ICOVP-2013), to be held in Lisbon, Portugal, in September 9-12, 2013.

Since 1990, the ICOVP conference series brings together researchers investigating vibration-related problems in Science and Engineering providing an international forum for this rapidly growing scientific domain. During the last twenty-two years, the ICOVP activities have been gaining momentum to meet the challenges of the twenty-first century with reference to modern engineering subjects and building designs, especially for the present day high-technology industries, with applications as broad as high speed spacecraft, nuclear power plants, offshore and ship building mechanics, storage and high-rise structures, involving many branches of Engineering, where vibration plays an important role.

The conference is hosted at the Instituto Superior Técnico and received a co-sponsorship of the International Federation for the Promotion of Mechanism and Machine Science (IFToMM).

For further information about the conference, please visit: www.icovp.com.

We would like to request you to mark ICOVP-2013 dates in your Scientific Calendar. Kindly inform other colleagues who might be interested in attending the conference.

First Call for Mini-Symposia Proposals for ICOVP-2013

The Organising Committee is all set to announce the First Call for Mini-Symposia Proposals for this event. Interested organizers for a Mini-Symposium please consult <http://www.icovp.com/index.php/mini-symposia-call>

The deadline for submission of Mini-Symposia Proposals (in response to the First Call) is: 31st of May 2012.

Email notification about the acceptance will be sent by 15th of June 2012.

Other subsequent calls may be announced later, depending on the number of proposals accepted in response to the First Call.

(Co-)Organizers of the accepted Mini-Symposia will benefit a reduced registration fee and will be included in the Scientific Committee of ICOVP-2013.

Looking forward to receiving your positive response
